Inter-Citic Unveils Two New Communications Initiatives For The Dachang Gold Project.

June 2, 2008, Toronto, ON: Inter-Citic Minerals Inc. (TSX-ICI) (“Inter-Citic” or “the Company”) Vice President of Corporate Communications, Stephen Lautens, is pleased to announce two new communications tools are now available to shareholders and the public to keep them better informed about progress at the Dachang Gold Project in China.

The first communications initiative is a multi-chapter corporate video presentation produced by UK company NetTV, narrated by former CNBC presenter Silvia Costa. The video presentation provides a background to Inter-Citic’s company and the Dachang Gold Project, and will be updated as there are future developments. The video presentation can be accessed through Inter-Citic’s website (www.inter-citic.com), or directly at www.nettv.tv/intercitic/.

In addition, Inter-Citic is now using Corebox.net to provide shareholders with a visual representation of all drill holes and results on the Dachang Main Zone resource area. The online tool allows viewers to visualize where the drill intercepts are located in 3D relative to other drilling in order to understand their relationships and significance. The entire DMZ can be rotated, zoomed in on and viewed on plan and by individual section, with details of all mineralized zones. New drill results will be added and highlighted when to allow investors an instant image of progress in Inter-Citic’s 2008 drill program at Dachang. The interactive 3D representation of Inter-Citic’s drill results are now available through Inter-Citic’s website or directly at www.corebox.net/properties/dachang/.

“These two tools bring Inter-Citic’s work at Dachang closer to our investors and analysts,” said Stephen Lautens, Inter-Citic’s Vice President of Corporate Communications. “The NetTV video and future updates allow a wider audience to see the Dachang project for themselves and hear management discuss the Company’s history and future. Corebox.net is a remarkable tool that lets investors actually see the Dachang Main Zone resource area evolve. Together these new communication innovations will bring the Dachang story closer to our shareholders and the wider public.”
